Roof for Children's TB Center

Infrastructure support diminished when Uzbekistan became independent of Moscow, leaving many buildings of institutions unable to cope with demands for repair.

Before

The children's Tuberculosis Center School in Nukus, Karakalpakstan, was one building that could no longer be used because of severe roof damage. Over 600 children are treated in this facility and attend school here, but were unable to continue because water seepage had destroyed the class rooms.

After

JDA with $16,000 USD funding from the British-Uzbek Society installed a new timber frame roof with rain gutters and down pipe. This financial support allowed the Center to initiate with their own funding the needed repair in the school. JDA became a catalyst so that this school is now functioning and children are again being educated.

JDA has also been assisting the reconstruction and construction of schools in northern Afghanistan, where 1000's of children are now able to attend class where they were unable to before. Education is an integral part of helping people transform to help themselves.
